

WELLS RIVER

General Upset in Train Service Last Week from Washouts.

The heavy rains of last Friday caused considerable damage on the railroads in this vicinity. A washout at Wentworth, N. H., of three hundred feet of track delayed all Boston trains from one to ten hours. The airline south run over the Passumpsic division to White River Junction, there meeting the northbound, arriving back at Wells River about 10 hours late. The evening Boston train was met at Wentworth by a special from Woodsville and the passengers carried by train, arriving at Wells River about 12 at night. The night trains of the White Mountain division all run on this side of the river. A washout on the Central Vermont caused all C. V. trains to run over the M. & W. R. iron to Wells River, thence south to White River Junction and Boston. Parties coming from the west report about 10 inches of snow at Montpelier. At this point, however, we had considerable rain, which caused the rivers to overflow, but very little snow until late afternoon.

Mrs. Daniel Farwell entertained Mrs. McKinley of Waterbury for several days last week.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Adams Paper company was held at the National bank building last Friday.

Several ladies were entertained at the home of Mrs. R. E. Farwell in honor of Mrs. Hyde of Middletown, Conn., whose husband has just returned from Y. M. C. A. work in France.

Mrs. Susan Pearl Taxbury and Ralph J. Bugbee were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents last Wednesday morning on Highland street, Woodsville, by Rev. Mr. Seaver. After a short wedding trip they will reside at Conway, N. H., where the groom is county agent.

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Woodsville fire district: Moderator, E. E. Craig; clerk, Earl Thayer; auditor, N. J. Paige; treasurer, L. E. Davidson; commissioner, A. C. Sault. The sum of $2200 was also appointed to look into a new water supply and $1000 voted to defray expense. Also a committee was appointed to look into the matter of a fire alarm system. An unusually large number were present at the meeting.

One of the most successful farmers' meetings was held at Swiftwater last Friday. A large number were present and the topics vital to farmers discussed with them by experts.

The following officers were elected at the annual school meeting of Woodsville: Moderator, R. U. Smith; clerk, E. J. Shores; treasurer, L. E. Davidson; member of school board for three years, C. T. Gates; trustee of library, N. J. Paige; auditor, E. R. Ball. The sum of $15,795 was raised for the support of the schools; for the support of the library, $300.

SOUTH CABOT

C. W. Bouldry was in Walden Wednesday to attend the funeral of Ora Kirtledge, his brother-in-law.

The hard rain of Thursday night and Friday morning raised the water in the brook here so that the water came into the roads to make them almost impassable. The stream was the highest it had been for years, but it only lasted a few hours, as there was no ice to back.

Mrs. Haves Bassett has received word that her brother, Arthur Hux of the 40th division, landed in New York on March 24 from France. He is expected to come to his home in Montpelier soon.

George Gonyo, who has been so very sick, is able to be up around.

Erma Bashaw has finished work at Clyde Mears' in Marshfield and returned home.

Sugar makers have had one good run of sap and are looking forward to a big run after this hard storm.

CITY LICENSES AND REGISTRATIONS

In compliance with the city ordinances, every keeper of a hotel, cafe, restaurant, luncheon or lunch-cart; all peddlers and itinerant vendors, including peddlers of meat, milk, fish and provisions; all owners of billiard and pool rooms, bowling alleys or shooting galleries; those owning and operating public hacks, trucking or express wagons, and all persons or firms doing plumbing in the city, or auctioneers, are required to take out licenses by April 15, 1919.

And all physicians, surgeons, dentists, midwives, undertakers, seamen, palmists, mind-readers or fortune-tellers, clairvoyants, mediums, and hypnotists practicing as such in this city who have not previously registered, as required by ordinance, shall do so by April 15, 1919.

JAMES MACKAY, City Clerk.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do—Adv.

RANDOLPH

Col. Israel Converse chapter held their regular meeting on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. A. Chedel on School street with a fair attendance.

In the business session one member was received by transfer from the Montpelier chapter and one name presented was unanimously elected to become a member of the chapter. In the absence of Mrs. G. H. Temple, to whom was assigned a paper there were several readings. The meeting was made much more enjoyable by the presence of Capt. Chedel and his wife, the former having recently returned from an overseas service, and he had many interesting things to relate in regard to his work there. Delicious refreshments were served, and the afternoon closed after much enjoyment.

The roll call of the Methodist church was held Friday evening, with a small attendance, the weather being such that it was impossible for many to be present. A bountiful supper was first served in the dining room of the church, after which came the program proper. Special music in the way of a cornet solo by Glenn Bailey was given, and singing was given by the audience. The reports of the different branches of the church were gratifying, although the work of the year had been much hindered by the quarantine which was held for several weeks. It is understood that they have invited the present pastor, Rev. R. H. Moore, to return for another year, the conference meeting this week at St. Albans.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Buck and daughter, Iris Buck, have been several days in Lebanon, N. H., where they are visiting friends.

B. C. Averill closed a long term of service with N. N. Morse & Sons on Saturday, and will seek out of doors work for a time on account of his health. Roy Bragg, a returned soldier, has been engaged to take his place at the mill for the present.

Mrs. Emily Burroughs, who is past 82 years of age, is very low at the present time and is not expected to recover. For several months she has been failing in strength, and it is not thought that she can rally again.

The severe storm of the last few days nearly closed all outside business on account of the traveling. The train service was out of order, and all business was greatly hindered by the heavy rainfall followed by the snow.

The child of Hobart Peck, who lives on the Rowell Addition, is ill with bronchial pneumonia, and the case is quite serious.

The youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smithers has been quite ill for several days, but is now thought to be improving.

GRANVILLE

Mrs. Rose Whitney has returned from Northfield to assist in sugaring at Flynn Ford's.

The corner school is closed for two weeks on account of whooping cough.

Mrs. Clarence Rich has returned from Montpelier, where she has been at her son's for some time.

George Sargent, Will Shirley and Henry Jennett were in Montpelier on business last week.

Mrs. J. Austin is working for Mrs. J. R. Vinton.

Mrs. Herbert Whitney visited in Randolph Friday.

EAST MONTPELIER

There is yarn on hand for children's socks. Will those who wish to knit them call for yarn and directions as soon as possible? Don't forget the clothes which you want sent on the relief this week.

Charles F. Waldo, Aged 86, Died After Illness of Several Weeks.

Charles F. Waldo, aged 86 years, died last Friday evening, after an illness of several weeks terminating unexpectedly in heart failure. He was for many years a prominent farmer in Royalton, being one of a large family. A few years ago he retired and bought the well known Guy Graham property on River street, which had been his home ever since. His Royalton farm, formerly the property of his wife's family, the Bowns, is the one now owned and operated by Nelson Fairchild. He is survived by his wife, who was Fannie Bowen, with whom he lived 59 years, and by a son, E. C. Waldo of Ellis, Kans., who returned home after a month's visit, a few days before his father's death, supposing him to be considerably better. The dispatch advising him of his father's death reached him only a few hours after his arrival at home. Funeral arrangements await the return of the son. Outside of his personal and family interests Mr. Waldo's energies were devoted largely to the cause, of which he was an active member for many years, serving as treasurer of Rising Star grange and treasurer of White River Valley Pomona grange by many successive elections until his voluntary retirement last year. He was a valued friend and supporter of the Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. LaRock and their grandson, Tyman Bailey, spent last week sugaring at Henry J. Noble's in Royalton.

Miss Grace Persons was here over Sunday from Springfield.

C. E. Claffin failed yesterday for a first time this winter to make his Sunday trip to Rochester by automobile. He drove a team instead. His only reason for not taking his car was that in several places between Bethel and Gayville the roads were washed badly by overloaded culverts last Friday.

A son was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. William E. Rogers.

Mrs. Mary Root and her daughters, Jennie and Philamene, went this morning for a visit to relatives in Syracuse, N. Y., and Potomac, N. Y.

Mrs. Glenn Twitchell is making satisfactory progress at the Randolph sanatorium after an operation for appendicitis.

Claude B. Williamson was here last week packing and shipping his father's household goods to Brattleboro, where he began work to-day in the office of the Estey Organ Co. The Williamsons were residents here many years and now the whole family is in Brattleboro.

Glenn Osha of Northfield, recently discharged from the army after 18 months' overseas service, visited his brother-in-law, George Sandpiper, last Thursday, and from here went to Rochester to visit relatives.

Harold R. Bundy, who was in France nearly six months, has landed in New Jersey. He was in the army mail service two months and became separated from his Bethel comrades in that way.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Hamlin of Pittsfield, who spent the winter in Manchester, came Thursday to F. V. Bascom's from Bridgeport, Conn., where they had been visiting, and returned home to-day. J. Howard Myott is ill with mumps and John Wynn is keeping his pool room open.

The funeral of Frank A. Trask, aged 86 years, a veteran of the civil war, was held at noon Saturday, Rev. J. Wesley Miller officiating, with interment beside the remains of his wife in the East Randolph cemetery. The deceased was born in Braintree Sept. 24, 1832, and died in East Bethel March 26, 1919. He served through the Civil war as a member of Co. G, 6th Vermont infantry. About 50 years ago he married Amelia Kingsbury of Warren and she died two years ago last November. He is survived by a brother, Joseph Trask of Wakefield, N. H., and a sister, Mrs. Emma Biford of Malden, Mass. The children are Mrs. Mabel Tyler of North Randolph, Clayton Trask of Gayville, Leon Trask of Bridgeport, Conn., and Edgar R. Trask, at whose home he died.

Mrs. M. M. Gordon of San Diego, Cal., formerly of Bethel and Barre, writes to friends here enclosing an Easter card by herself printed on a card and each bearing hand-painted designs by Mrs. Gordon. Both poems have been copyrighted.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Rix Williams of Claremont, N. H., former residents, are visiting in town. They have rented their Pleasant street property to Dana Grow, who leaves the Road farm this year after several years' tenure.

George E. Davies, who returned lately from France, went Saturday to New Haven, where he has been chosen principal of Beeman academy. He was drafted for the army last spring near the end of his year as assistant principal of McIndoes academy.

Mrs. Grace Dean will give up her dress-making rooms and will go with the family of D. L. Chadwick to Randolph. Depositions were taken at the inn Thursday and Friday before Raymond Trainor, Esq., of White River Junction, as magistrate, in the case of the Tremont Trust company vs. the Aina Insurance company and eight other insurance companies, for use in the United States court for the district of Massachusetts. The witnesses were Edwin C. Fisher, Eugene A. Fisher, Joseph W. Steinhilber and Homidas D. Belval, all of Bethel. The subject of inquiry was the fact of the shipment of a certain large lot of leather from the Bethel Chrome Tanning company to the Tremont Trust company in the summer of 1917, which subsequently was destroyed by the fire which consumed the finishing plant of A. O. Minner at Gowanda, N. Y., Sept. 6, 1917. Related to the matter of shipment were the questions of the quality and value of the leather destroyed. There appeared as counsel before the magistrate on the part of the plaintiff, the Tremont Trust company, Asa P. French of Boston, U. S. district attorney for Massachusetts, under Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft, Thomas J. Boynton of Everett, Mass., present U. S. district attorney for Massachusetts, Judge E. L. McManes of Framingham, Mass., Judge Louis Swig of Taunton, Mass., and Charles Batchelder of Bethel. On the part of the defendants, the insurance companies, Robert J. Dixon of New York, W. H. Dixon of New York and F. W. Brown of Boston. There were also present Simon Swig of Boston, vice-president of the Tremont Trust company, and Neil D. Clawson of Brattleboro, clerk of the Vermont public service commission, stenographic reporter for the court. Depositions in the same suit were taken last week at Gowanda, N. Y. The streams in this section rose rapidly nearly all day Friday, following the heavy rain Thursday night and Friday morning. If the weather had not turned colder early Friday there might have been a sad story to tell of loss and suffering. The bridge damage locally so far as reported was limited to the destruction of two broad bridges in Barnard, one near Frank Rhoades' and one near Eugene Emery's, neither of them on the main road, and the serious weakening of an abutment of the iron bridge across Locust creek in this town near the Barnard line. Chairman A. N. Newell of the selectmen was early on the scene and secured the bridge by chains, at the same time closing traffic over it until repairs are made. In the village little damage was done, but the streams broadened in a spectacular way, the branch overflowing on the old fairground and on Edmunds flats and the Arnold meadow. The lumber piles in A. N. Washburn's yard were standing in several feet of water at one time. E. D. Gilson's "island" was covered, as was Bridge street near the Washburn residence. Soon after dark the waters began to recede and everyone felt happy that the danger was past. It is more than a coincidence that the highest water in 1913 and the next highest in 1919 followed winters in which almost no snow gathered in the woods. In an ordinary season the snow deposits hold countless tons of water in what otherwise would be their sudden descent into the streams.

WATTSFIELD

Ladies of Wattsfield are invited to attend a demonstration of the Eureka Electric Cleaner at the Wattsfield House, Wednesday, April 2. This is the machine which won the grand prize at the Panama exposition. It is not expensive and will absolutely clean your carpets, rugs, portieres, mattresses and upholstered furniture. Call April 2 at 2 o'clock and ask for Mr. Tyler of the Montpelier & Barre Light & Power Co. If impossible for you to attend that day, phone 9002-2 for a demonstration in your own home—adv.

The Paris of the Balkans.

The sufferings of Rumania in the war were great and prolonged. Out of some 8,000,000 people, more than 600,000 were killed in battle or died of disease, and the invaders succeeded in destroying or carrying off much of the movable wealth of the country and almost all the rolling stock of the railroads which was necessary for food relief. To-day 15,000 tons of food are waiting at Constanta, but there are no trains to take them inland.

But in spite of these troubles the spirit of Bucharest seems to be the same. Some shipments have arrived from France. With clothing costing $250 a suit, eggs a dollar apiece, a cup of coffee a dollar, one would think that the precious space of these trains would have been used for the necessities of life. And they were, but for the necessities of life as Bucharest sees them. French perfume and silk stockings were brought in by the carload, the populace is willing to wait for food. The Paris of the Balkans, if one may still apply that term to the capital of a people which denies that it belong to the Balkan system, seems to have the same temperament as before the war.—New York Times.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

EDITH CAVELL'S GRAVE.

The Field of the Martyrs in Brussels—How Her Betrayal Was Avenged.

When the soldiers of the allied armies made their triumphant entry into Brussels recently, the British took possession of a little square mound of earth, which, though but a square meter in area, was most sacred to them in that it covered the remains of the British martyr nurse, Edith Cavell, shot by the Germans for assisting her countrymen, prisoners in Brussels, to escape home via Holland. And though many a German owed his life to her because she did not spare herself when called upon to tend the enemy wounded, no mercy was shown her by the German officers when denounced.

Where Miss Cavell was executed and buried is described here by a French writer who recently paid a visit to her grave.

"In Schaerbeek, a northeastern suburb of Brussels, stands a huge, red stone establishment of no particular style. It consists of a central building, flanked by two towers and prolonged by two wings. It is the national shooting ground of Brussels, and it was inside its walls that Miss Cavell was assassinated; it was in the shelter of the knolls and ditches of this shooting ground that 41 unfortunate, guilty only of loving their country, were executed by the Germans during their occupation of Brussels.

"The death of Miss Cavell is veiled in mystery. It is not known exactly on what spot she and her companions met their death. Positions favorable for inflicting death sentences are not lacking in this enclosure. Outside of the executioners, no witness was present, but the examination we have made of the locality permits us to hope that we may be able to throw some light on the drama.

"At the end of the enclosure, to the right, is a cabbage field cultivated by the Germans. Through the center of the field runs a line of 41 graves, which, on this November morning, are shrouded in frost. This is the field of the martyrs and up till a few days ago these little mounds of earth were the sole indications that this was the spot of their martyrdom.

"The Germans permitted neither cross nor name to be placed on these tombs. It was Nov. 1 that Mr. Brasseur, the district attorney, obtained the German commandant's authorization to place a little white cross and a number of each grave.

"Thus this morning we find ourselves face to face with another mysterious aspect of the affair. Evidently these numbers correspond to a geometric plan whereby it is possible to identify the victims. But this place, it appears, was burned by the Germans on their departure from Brussels. Therefore, to identify Miss Cavell and her companions in misfortune, we shall have to have recourse to exhumation.

"As far as can be supposed, the grave of Miss Cavell bears the number 5. In its miserable and anonymous character it resembles the other graves. But this morning it is distinguished by two large wreaths of chrysanthemums, one offered by the community of Schaerbeek, the other by the Belgian nation.

"Among the martyrs is one whose name the public has hitherto ignored. He is Louis Bril, the Belgian, who to avenge Miss Cavell, assassinated the man who denounced her. Miss Cavell was betrayed to the Germans by a Belgian youth, whose name has thus far not been published out of consideration for the family to whom he belonged. This youth, after his denunciation, never dared venture into the streets of Brussels alone. He was always accompanied by an agent of the German secret police.

"Louis Bril dogged his steps till one night he took advantage of the occasion to shoot him through the heart. But the German police agent had noticed the interest which he bore to the traitor, and one morning Bril's house was surrounded by the German guards. Fortunately he was warned in time to escape by the roof. But some weeks later, returning to Brussels to thank the person who had enabled him to get away, he was captured by the Germans and shot."—Paris letter in Kansas City Star.

Rutland and Bolshevism.

One large factory in Rutland last week let forty different men go because the plan did not have sufficient work to keep all of its employees busy. It is true that there is work on farms for those men if they take it. That fact, however, is not of a great deal of importance to a person who has a home and a family here in Rutland and who would get but about $50 for his month's labor. It just isn't a sufficient amount of the coin of the realm to keep the wolves away from the doors of his home in town. It is not a great source of satisfaction either, that better times are predicted. Optimism does not pay for the present lot of bread which is needed. It is this sort of conditions that breeds bolshevism.—Rutland News.
